Just click the 'Plus' icon on the left to create a group for you and your students. Once you've created your first group, you'll receive $5 in promotional Edmodo Store credit." Another red arrow points to the "Edmodo Snapshot" text, with a callout box that reads: "The new Snapshot has some fun stuff to explore, but you can poke around later." Below the banner, there is a "Latest Posts" section with a post from "Edmodo to Me" that says "Welcome to Edmodo! Let's set up your classroom, it only takes a minute. Start by creating a group for you and your students and you'll be on your way." A "Common Core in a snap." section is also visible, with text that says "You'd never describe standardized testing as 'quick and easy'. See how Edmodo Snapshot is about to change that." The bottom of the page shows a Windows taskbar with the Start button and the Chrome browser icon.

Ms. Le-Grand to Language Arts

Hello, I have begun a Press Club at my High School.

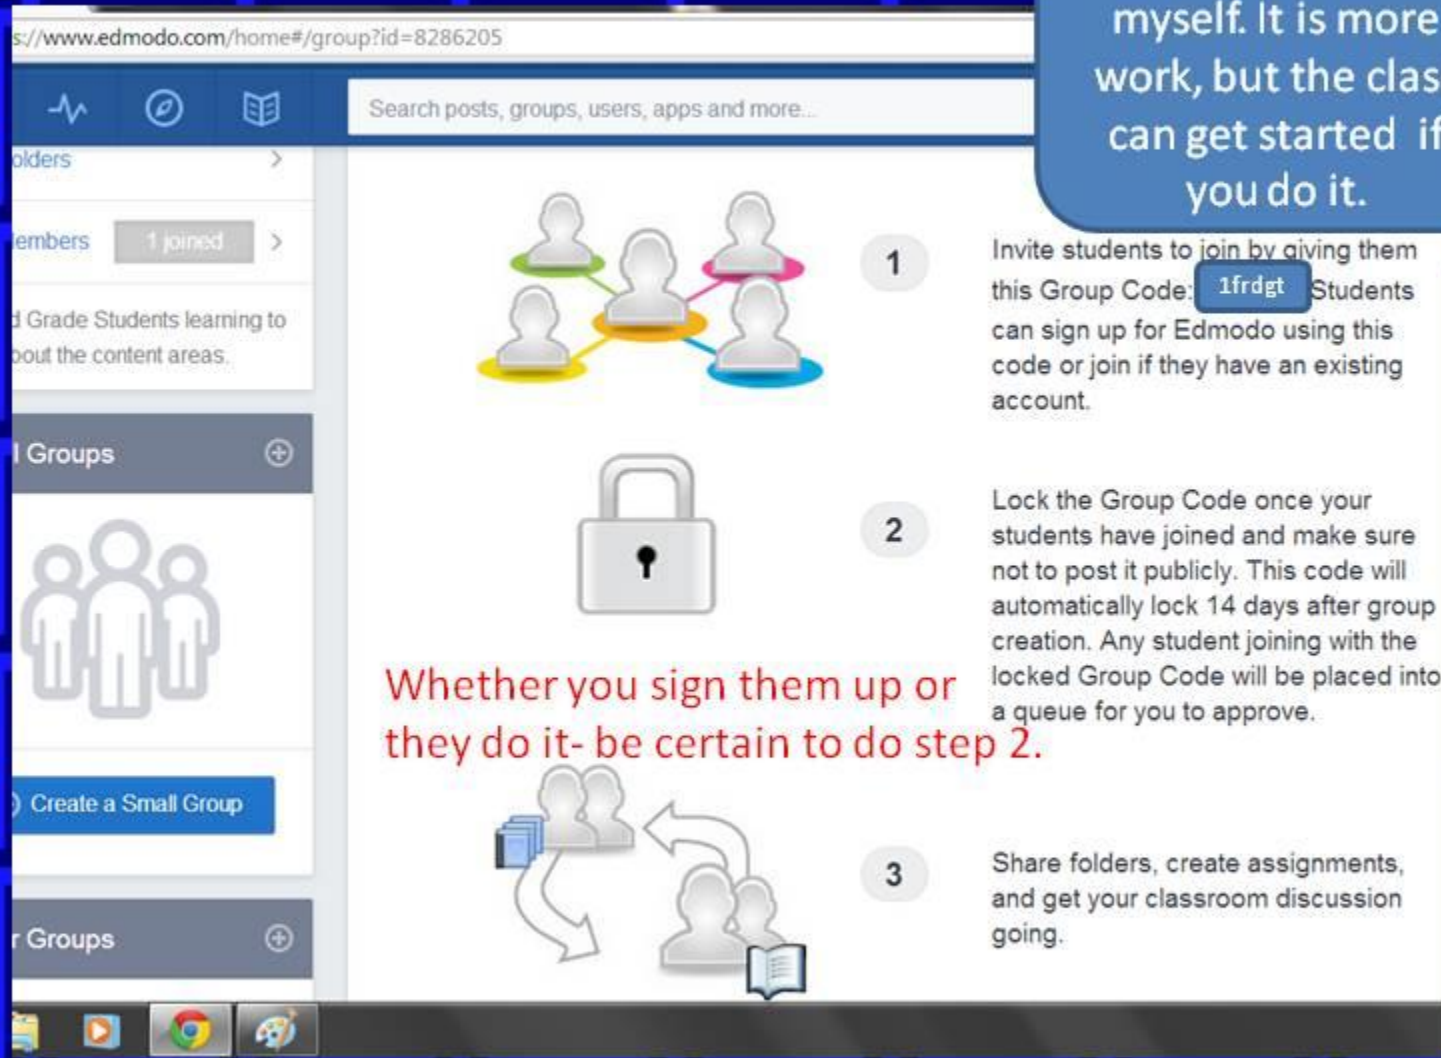

The student's who are in charge of the School Watch section are struggling to come up with avenues to research. They have already created a Bully opinion survey and analysed the results and have looked at the environmental impact of the school.

Does anyone have other ideas?

At this point I would enter the students myself. It is more work, but the class can get started if you do it.

The screenshot shows the Edmodo web interface. The URL is <https://www.edmodo.com/home#/group?id=8286205>. The search bar contains the text "Search posts, groups, users, apps and more...". On the left sidebar, there are sections for "folders", "members" (with a "1 joined" button), and "Groups". The main content area displays three numbered steps for creating a group:

- 1 Invite students to join by giving them this Group Code: `1frdgt`. Students can sign up for Edmodo using this code or join if they have an existing account.
- 2 Lock the Group Code once your students have joined and make sure not to post it publicly. This code will automatically lock 14 days after group creation. Any student joining with the locked Group Code will be placed into a queue for you to approve.
- 3 Share folders, create assignments, and get your classroom discussion going.

Whether you sign them up or they do it- be certain to do step 2.

If you insist on having your students sign themselves up, then you can just send home this code and the web address.

The screenshot shows the Edmodo website interface. At the top, there is a search bar with the text "Search posts, groups, users, apps and more...". Below the search bar, the user is greeted with "Hi, Student 2. Student". The main content area has a text input field with the placeholder "Type your note here". Below this field are icons for attaching files, links, and saving items to a backpack. A red arrow points to the file icon with the text "files by clicking here", another red arrow points to the link icon with "links by clicking here", and a third red arrow points to the backpack icon with "things saved into their backpacks by clicking here". Below these icons is a "No file chosen" button. To the right of the backpack icon are "Cancel" and "Send" buttons. Below the input field is a "Latest Posts" section. The first post is from "Edmodo to Me" with the text "Welcome! The image shows a screenshot of the Edmodo website interface. At the top, the browser address bar shows `www.edmodo.com/home`. Below the navigation bar, there is a search bar with the text "Search posts, groups, users, apps and more...". The main content area is dimmed, showing a greeting "Hi, Student 2. Student" and a "Send to..." dropdown menu. A white dialog box titled "Attach Link" is centered on the screen. It contains two input fields: the top one has a placeholder "http:// or <embed>" and the bottom one has a placeholder "Title of the web page:". At the bottom of the dialog are "Cancel" and "Attach" buttons. The background content includes a "Latest P..." section with a profile icon and a welcome message: "Welcome! Now you can connect to all your classes in one place." Below this is a paragraph: "To join existing groups, just click the + icon on the left side of this screen and enter the code provided by your teacher. Once you're in, you'll be able to access every group you belong to right here, no additional accounts or sign up required." and another line: "Now if only your homework was this easy!". The Windows taskbar is visible at the bottom with icons for a video player and Chrome.

Now that you and your class are signed up, let's take a look at the various ways you can make assignments.

I use the note section when I want students to be able to interact by responding to each other.

Assignments I post here are writing assignments that extend the Science and Social Studies lessons. Students pull out the main ideas and details using capital letters, ending punctuation and all words from a text book or word wall should be spelled correctly.

The screenshot shows a Facebook interface. At the top, there are options to 'Save password' and 'Never for this site'. Below that is a search bar with the text 'Search posts, groups, users, apps and more...'. A navigation bar contains icons for 'Note', 'Alert', 'Assignment', 'Quiz', 'Poll', and 'Snapshot New!'. A text input field is labeled 'Type your note here...'. Below this is the 'Latest Posts' section, which includes a post from 'Ms. Le-Grand to Language Arts'. The post text reads: 'Hello, I have begun a Press Club at my High School. The student's who are in charge of the School Watch section are struggling to come up with avenues to research. They have already created a Bully opinion survey and analysed the results and have looked at the environmental impact of the school. Does anyone have other ideas?'. The post has 4 replies and was shared 4 hours ago.

Students respond to each other by expressing interest and encouragement.

Once a quiz is created it is there anytime you need it.

In this area you can make your own quizzes, or you can search Snapshot. But on this tab and the previous tab due dates can be loaded. If students do not complete their assignments, they are locked out.

Polls are a place where you can take a one question survey. They are fun for the students and can provide a quick check up.

The library is a place where you can keep links you like for future use.

The screenshot shows the Edmodo website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with icons for Home, Home, Home, and Library. A red arrow points to the Library icon. Below the navigation bar is a search bar with the text "Search posts, groups, users, apps and more...". The main content area is divided into several sections: a user profile for "Hi, Hagan Teacher", a "Groups" section with a plus icon, and a "Communities" section. The "Groups" section lists "Hagan Heroes 2014- 2013", "SMART Cl (Educators)", and "Hagan's Heroes 2013". The "Communities" section lists "Matthew Arthur Elementary School". The "Latest Posts" section shows a post by "Cool right" to "Hagan's Heroes 2013" with a photo of a dinosaur. The bottom of the screenshot shows the Windows taskbar with icons for Internet Explorer, Firefox, and Chrome.

Click the Add to Library button, paste the link and it is stored for safe keeping.
